The Spokesman

The 3rd Day of November
in the year of President
Barry Benson 2017-2018

Melissa Diers is hosting today's program

Presenter: Wyatt Spalding

Ambassador, Roots to Wings

Roots to Wings is a new nonprofit located in Arlington, Nebraska, devoted to offering meaningful employment opportunities for people with developmental disabilities. With a vision to "recognize life-long learners, of all ability levels," it is committed to promoting happy, healthy lifestyles for its employees while helping to foster independent work skills.

Roots to Wings, inspired by a similar, successful program called Farmer's House in Weston, Missouri, was founded by Sheila Monke and Jamie Smith, who sought to address the longtime need for advanced work skills training for young adults with developmental disabilities who were transitioning out of the school setting.

Last March, Roots to Wings opened a retail store in downtown Arlington which sells handmade and homemade crafts and garden produce from the program's "farmers" – the individuals employed by the program. Roots to Wings employees also manage the store, with the training and guidance of Executive Director Linda Menking (Sheila's sister), and with the support of a committed Board of Directors and numerous community partners.

Wyatt Spalding serves as ambassador of the Roots to Wings program and regularly shares presentations about the organization's work and purpose throughout the Fremont area.
